RECALLING paragraph 203 of the outcome document of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development (also known as Rio+ 20) entitled The future we want<sup>1</sup>, highlighting the importance of CITES;

<sup>1</sup> Paragraph 203. We recognize the important role of CITES (the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora), an international agreement that stands at the intersection between trade, environment and development; promotes the conservation and sustainable use of biodiversity; should contribute to tangible benefits for local people; and ensures that no species entering into international trade is threatened with extinction. We recognize the economic, social and environmental impacts of illicit trafficking in wildlife where firm and strengthened action needs to be taken on both the supply and demand sides. In this regard, we emphasize the importance of effective international cooperation among relevant multilateral environmental agreements and international organizations. We further stress the importance of basing the listing of species on agreed criteria.

FURTHER RECALLING Resolution 69/314 adopted by the UN General Assembly on Tackling Illicit trafficking in wildlife recognizing the legal framework provided by and the important role of CITES as well as Resolution 68/205, on World Wildlife Day, in which the UNGA proclaimed 3 March, the day of the adoption of CITES, as World Wildlife Day, and designated the CITES Secretariat as the facilitator for the global observance of this special day for wildlife on the UN calendar;

REITERATING the CITES Strategic Vision and stressing the importance of full and effective implementation of CITES as a significant contribution towards achieving the relevant Aichi Biodiversity Targets;

WELCOMING the adoption by the UN Environment Assembly of resolution 2/18 on relationship between the UNEP and the Multilateral Environmental Agreements for which it provides Secretariat;

TAKING NOTE of General Assembly Resolution 60/283, on Investing in the United Nations for a stronger organization worldwide, by which the Assembly approved the adoption of the International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS) by the United Nations; and

RECOGNIZING that the International Public Sector Accounting Standards require that full provision be made for doubtful debt in respect of debt for which there is more than four years of non-payment of contributions and that proportionate provision be made for recent non-payment of contributions and that, as a result, an amount, estimated at USD 432,653, will have to be deducted from the end 2015 fund balance of the Convention to cover doubtful debt and cannot be used for the benefit of all Parties during the triennium 2017-2019;
